

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."—Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted, by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

Maid Enjoyed the Party.

A prominent New York first-nighter and boulevardier recently gave a party at his luxurious apartment, those members of the unfair sex present being the very choicest chorines from a half-dozen Broadway musical shows, who came in their limousines. One girl had her mulatto maid along. That maid, quite as pretty as her mistress, freely mingled with the guests, and the amazing audacity of it silenced comment. When the affair broke up the mulatto maid stepped up to the man who had given the party and remarked:

"Allow me to congratulate you—indeed, you are a perfect host."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

NEBRASKA IN BRIEF

Timely News Culled From All Parts of the State, Reduced for the Busy.

Five cases of a strange malady of a mild and not serious nature have been treated at the St. Francis hospital at Grand Island. They are called sporotrichosis and it is claimed that 123 cases in former German colonies in Africa and 73 cases in the United States comprise the number known to scientists to investigate a new disease, apparently blood or tissue, appearing among the settlers of her African colonies and these found that the disease started below the finger nails, due to a scratch or thorn, an infection being thus carried to the lymphatics where, in about six weeks, small nodules, similar to buckshot, became visible. All the five cases came from Greeley county and are attributed to contact with some dried vegetable matter.

While excavating for a building recently, Henry Kariger of Curtis uncovered a huge fossil on the farm of John Korte. An eminent zoologist of Denver said that the fossil was a mammoth and that from the size of the skull, teeth and other bones it was the largest ever found in America. The bones are in an excellent state of preservation, although it is estimated that it is 250,000 years since the mammoth roamed over this continent. Kariger has had several offers for the fossil, but has not yet decided what he shall do with them.

To run an 80-acre irrigated farm in the North Platte valley one year costs $2,030, exclusive of any wage for the owner or his family, according to a committee of the North Platte Valley Water Users association. This cost was itemized as follows: Alfalfa seed, $75; county taxes, $225; water charges, $400; seed potatoes, $100; other seed, $60; blacksmithing, $25; repairing, $150; insurance, $25; upkeep and depreciation, $500; feed for work stock, $200; fuel, $75.

Fire from matches in the vest pocket of Deputy State Fire Marshal Harry Hauser caused a near panic in the Lyric theatre at Lincoln. Wreathed in an aura of smoke, the deputy rushed outdoors and spanked out the blaze. His appearance reassured the crowd after several cries of fire. Hauser had just finished writing a bulletin advising the use of safety matches when he slipped some of the parlor variety in his pocket and went to the show, according to his chief.

Federal Judge Martin Wade of Iowa confirmed the purchase of the Wells-Abbott-Nierman plant at Schuyler, for $90,000. The mill was bought by W. Dale Clark of the Omaha National bank, representative of the five largest creditors, on November 21. Confirmation of the purchase was held up, pending the report of Herbert Daniel, auditor, appointed by Federal Judge Woodruff to guard the interests of the small creditors.

Over 800 registered for the night school which just opened at North Platte, and requests have been made to hold registrations for a week longer. This is the largest night school in the United States in proportion to the population of the city. Dr. Hartley of Lincoln is directing the school and a corps of teachers have been selected from local persons.

Gustave Bahr, squawman, who killed Percy Steifel in Pierce because he claimed Steifel ruined his daughter, escaped from the state hospital at Norfolk. A search for Bahr is being made in the vicinity of Bloomfield, where Bahr has a ranch. Bahr was adjudged insane.

Gene Purdy, of Atkinson, topped the Omaha market again the other day. Mr. Purdy has the distinction of topping the hog market for four successive years, and has been raising the Duroc hogs for a number of years with remarkable success.

Guy Halverstein, one of the oldest engineers on the Northwestern railroad, is dead at Norfolk. He was 70 and worked for the same road 50 years. He was pensioned on January 1, 1922, and eight days later he died.

Managers and directors of county fairs in Nebraska will meet in Lincoln January 10 and 17, to discuss programs for 1922. Secretary W. B. Smith of Lincoln announces.

The Scottsbluff board of education has called a special school bond election of $300,000 for the purpose of building a new high school. At the same time the board began negotiations with William Frank for the purchase of 10 acres of land in the northwestern part of the city as a site for the proposed school. The election will be held in February.

Frank B. Knapp, head of the defunct Fidelity Trust Co., of Fremont, charged with attempts to cheat and defraud clients will be tried in the District Court of Dodge County.

The city of Sidney is starting the grading down of the hill north of the city to connect the city with the federal and state aid road coming from Gurley and Dalton. All unemployed men in the city are to be employed and it will be under the supervision of the city council. The estimated cost is about $4,000 and the money expended will all remain in Sidney.

The Union Telephone company serving the Bloomfield "striking" subscribers wants to quit. Officials of the company filed with the state railway commission a petition asking permission to close the exchange on January 18. The requests point out that the approximately 600 "strikers" have refused to resume service under the new rates ordered by the commission and the new company is operating at a considerable loss. The Bloomfield patrons, who have been without service for many months, indicate they will stand firm until pre-war rates are restored.

The Lincoln crib of the Corn Eaters of America, pledged to eat corn in some form once a day during the year, was organized at Lincoln at a banquet of 500 representatives from many Nebraska Chambers of Commerce and from large cities along the Missouri river. The dinner was made up exclusively of corn dishes. It is planned to spread the organization through the corn belt at once and make it a national organization. The object is to increase the demand for corn and help the farmers.

Eugene Gannon, only son of Deputy U. S. Marshal John G. Gannon of Rosalie, was found dead near Bancroft, the top of his head having been blown off by a shotgun. It is supposed that Gannon, walking to Bancroft from his home west of Rosalie, carrying the shotgun, slipped and fell and that both barrels were discharged, the shot hitting him just back of the temple.

To bring the state bank guaranty fund, drained of nearly $4,000,000 during the last two years by thirty bank failures, up to the legal 1 per cent of average aggregate deposits, the state department of trade and commerce has just made a special assessment of $1,456,261.92 against the 986 state banks in Nebraska.

Misinterpretation of orders is said to have been responsible for the collision of the northbound Northwestern passenger with a southbound extra freight in the Wahoo yards. Both engine crews jumped and escaped with bruises. Passengers received a severe shaking, but no one was injured.

Bill Harris, negro, was taken into custody by sheriff C. E. Clark of Central City after confessing to the murder of his wife, twenty years ago in Texas. The confession was prompted by a visit from his daughter, with whom he quarreled, she threatening to expose him.

Headquarters of the newly formed progressive party of Nebraska were opened in Lincoln with State Chairman J. H. Edmisten in charge. A state wide campaign of organization, it was announced, will start January 21 with a number of speakers in the field.

Fire of undetermined origin totally destroyed the garage owned and operated at Murdock, by William Gehrts. The building was valued at $10,000 and was not insured. Six automobiles, tools and other implements were lost.

Ray Lower, former cashier of the Valparaiso state bank, was sentenced to serve from one to seven years in the penitentiary following his conviction in district court on a charge of embezzlement.

Nine big coyotes, two of them weighing more than sixty pounds apiece, were shot in a round-up staged by Oxford post No. 219 of the American Legion, in which about five hundred men took part.

That Cheyenne county farmers are raising some good hogs is evidenced by the fact that a car of Duroc Jerseys, shipped by Oscar A. Olson of near Sidney topped the Denver market last week.

Four inmates of the state reformatory at Lincoln made a successful break for liberty, gaining freedom while a guard emptied his rifle at the fleeing men.

Plans are being matured for the paving of 30 miles of country roads in Douglas county during 1922. It is estimated that the cost will be about $3,000,000.

LAND OF WEALTH

Potentialities of Western Canada Abundantly Proved.

Prizes Taken at International Live Stock Exposition Show What Land is Capable of Producing.

Forty years ago the first sale was made of lands acquired by the Canadian Pacific railway. This is but a short span in the lives of many, and there are those who look back upon that period as it being but of yesterday. Yet when one glances back it is to marvel at the accomplishments of that period. One of the most striking of these is the progress that has been made in Western Canada since that day, forty years ago, when an official of the railway placed his signature to the document that gave possession to the new owner of a section of land. This was the first sign of the wealth that in time would be added to the wealth of the world in forty years, this single section of land being the base upon which the future would be built. The potential wealth was but in embryo; today it is a big, living reality. Among the many things that reveal this, may be seen the winnings made by Western Canada exhibitors at the International Live Stock show held in Chicago in 1921. These were so marked in their number as to give to the world—the American world—a splendid idea of the excellence of the products of the farms of the new but rapidly developing country lying to the north of the international boundary line.

The results of the exhibition show, according to the Manitoba Free Press, that in live stock and grain exhibits the three prairie provinces of Canada made something like 150 winnings. Every animal sent from the province of Alberta won a prize. Exhibits included Shorthorn and Hereford cattle and Percheron and Clydesdale horses. An Alberta-bred heifer got fourth place in a class of eighteen outstanding individuals. In grain, Alberta made simply an astounding record, securing the sweepstakes for oats, and eight or nine prizes before even the American exhibitors secured a placing, and while the grand championship for wheat went to Montana, the prairie provinces took 23 out of 25 possible placings. The first prize for alfalfa seed was awarded for seed grown at Brooks, Alberta, in competition with 43 entries. Alfalfa-growing in Western Canada has been increasing by leaps and bounds, and this victory will give it and the dairy industry, which is always linked with it, a further impetus.

In live stock classes alone Saskatchewan had sixty entries and took sixty-four ribbons.

The winning of the grand championship for Clydesdale stallions by a Saskatchewan horse, for the second time in succession, was almost exceptional. He was bred on a Western Canada farm, fitted and prepared for exhibition there, and able to win over horses shown from the studs of men who have unlimited money to spend on the breeding and preparation of their exhibits. This is proof positive that the farmers of Western Canada are not only in a position to breed their own horse power, and that of a very high quality, but to breed horses that will be saleable in any market of the world.

Manitoba takes just pride in the fact that a Percheron stallion, first in his class and Canadian-bred champion, was bred by Vance, of Crandall, Manitoba. Manitoba took 64 places outside of the grain exhibits.

When all is said and done, the real triumphs are the wins of both live stock and grains actually produced in the great Canadian provinces.

Commenting upon the enterprise of agriculturists of Western Canada in sending exhibits to the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago, the New York Herald in a recent issue said: "Western Canada is encouraging diversified farming in a way certain to bring an increased flow of dollars into the pockets of agriculturists, who at one time devoted their energies exclusively to the raising of grain crops."—Advertisement.
